on this week at school!

YOUNG VOICES

This week a group of our children took part in the Young Voices concert at the O2. This is the world's largest school choir with over 150,000 primary school children involved in stadiums throughout the UK. To say our children shined their lights is an understatement. They beamed! For some of our younger children it meant using great courage, being in a venue so large and it was remarked how much love our older children showed in making sure that the younger ones were safe and were enjoying themselves. Parents who attended the performance were blown away by the singing and dancing and we can't wait to take part again next year.

WEST KINGSDOWN LIBRARY

The classes weekly trips to our community library have started up again this term. Each class takes it in turn to visit the library, look at, read and select some books to bring home. Janet the librarian always compliments the children on their manners and their book choices. It is wonderful that our children can play their part in the community in which they learn and we can support our local library. If you have any outstanding books at home, please send them into school and one of the classes will return them to the library for you.

MESSAGE FROM MRS STONEHAM

Our school has continued to be a hive of activity this week with so much going on. We welcome eight new children into our family next week and I know that our children will take these new children under their wings, leading with our Christian values.

We continue to look for any donations to enhance our playtimes, old mobile phones, ropes, tarpaulin, wooden toys, small world figures, buckets, clothes, scooters, suitcases. The list goes on. We are incredibly grateful for all donations and as a community so many of you are willing to help the school to try and make it the best we can. Our pupils deserve the best and we continue to stride in using our Christian values to foster an environment where our children learn, play, love and respect. We are incredibly lucky to have your children at the heart of our school.
